Wangwriter: center Letter Perfect the First Time

The Wangwriter is Wang's lowest cost word processing system. And with the Wangwriter you get all the features that have made Wang the number one supplier of word processors in the world.

Wang has set industry standards for ease-of-use. Operators can begin producing letter perfect text the day your Wangwriter is installed. A full array of editing keys guides the operator, and light-up prompts and messages tell the operator when an incorrect command has been entered. Prompts & messages

delete Text can be quickly recalled from diskette and displayed for editing. Words, phrases and paragraphs can be inserted, deleted or moved anywhere on the page, or to another page. Striking over errors leaves only the correction on the screen for instant verification. move indent An entire document can be reformatted. Using the indent key, an entire paragraph can be indented. There is no need to worry about text running off the paper, the Wangwriter automatically ends the line at your set margin. Misspell a word throughout the document? Find it once, correct it, then let the global replace function correct the word for you throughout the document. global search & replace word wrap strike thru Aligning columns of numbers can be a tedious task. Using the decimal tab function, the Wangwriter will automatically align columns of numbers on their decimal points. If there is a phrase or paragraph you use frequently, store it in the glossary for automatic recall. decimal tab glossary Strike thru aids in proofreading, and use the double underscore to highlight material. double underscore The Wangwriter types subscripts and superscripts ( $H^2O_2$ ) with a single keystroke. subscripts & superscripts

These are just a few of the functions the Wangwriter can perform. It can do a whole lot more to ensure a speedier work flow in your office.
